Indianapolis, IN

Dear Potential Sponsor,

Loving Life Productions LLC is a local entertainment production company currently based in the Indianapolis area.

Our company specializes in producing, publishing and promoting positive “entertainment with purpose.” Our sole mission is to create content that not only transforms lives but transcends time. We are producing an independent television series called “Line of Justice.” The show follows the life of a Black female detective working in the judicial system, navigating through grief, personal relationships and the delicate balance of her job role and her personal beliefs. The plot in this crime drama addresses the timely topics of social justice, moral compass and inspirational themes.

We have successfully produced six independent films the first of which, “Earth Cry” earned international attention and garnered awards from film festivals in the U.S. and our most recent theatrical feature, “5 Hours to Georgia,” was recently awarded best feature film at a regional film festival and debut internationally at the Lift-Off London Film Festival. Our mission is to continue to produce quality content that touches the lives of people around the world with its authentic message of hope and inspires change through intimate storytelling. It is also very important for us to continue to hire, educate and provide opportunities to women and people of color working in the film entertainment industry.

We provide jobs, mentorship, and opportunities, to the often overlooked and undervalued talent in the city of Indianapolis and surrounding cities in the United States.

By becoming one of our corporate sponsors, you will be a part of the family of creative supporters making locally produced content of excellent quality with national reach. This series and it's powerful message deserve to be seen by audiences around the world. We believe this series will be seen worldwide.

Your contribution as a sponsor will help us share this series pilot episode and its important message that we truly believe will impact all who see it. We've listed some of the incentives and perks that your company or organization can enjoy should you decide to become one of our corporate sponsors. Regardless of the amount your company or organization chooses to give, there are generous perks to contribute to the promotion of your company or organization's work.
